

I write in response to the proposed increase in electricity rates for the retail section. Small business is already an extremely difficult one to manage with any degree of profitability. I employ 8 people in total and to expect further costs associated with a necessary service such as electricity, decreases my overall ability to continue to offer regular work for my employees. I hope that the proposed increase of 10% for electricity in the retail sector is reconsidered.